Juzpop is a Melbourne-based contemporary artist recognised for her large-scale murals and figurative paintings. Working across public art and studio practice, she explores the relationship between our inner world, the natural world and the environments we inhabit.

This exhibition "Exposed" explores biophilia: the desire to feel close to nature, even through its image. Shaped by isolation, change and a need for healing, these paintings draw on a longing for the natural world within surroundings far removed from it. Through double-exposure techniques, figures merge with plants, water and light, this layering brings an imagined calm to the lives within each painting, extending an offering of comfort to those viewing the work. This ongoing exploration of femininity holds protection and vulnerability together. Exposed offers viewers a moment of the calm and connection found in nature, within lives that may leave little room to seek it out.
