Velatura

by Marco Pennacchia

Velatura is a quiet unveiling. Each layer holds doubt, fear, and the soft weight of becoming. My insecurities, once hidden, are no longer weaknesses, but a quiet kind of strength. They've shaped my path, tested my resilience, and brought me here. Through gentle layers and subtle marks, I explore what is concealed, what wants to emerge, and the space in between. These works are fragments of that journey: uncertain, tender, and real. This exhibition isn't just what I make, it's a reflection of who I'm becoming, and the slow, fragile process of learning to show myself fully, without fear or disguise.
